

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method is provided of fortifying a single serving prepared beverage having minimal nutritional value with one or more nutritional supplements. The method includes the step of providing a supplement base. A further step is combining nutritional supplements into the supplement base to form a nutritional composition. The nutritional composition can be packed into a single serving dispenser. Another step is combining the nutritional composition from the single serving dispenser with the single serving beverage having minimal nutritional value for personal consumption.

10

15

20